JX blast has the full range of surface preparation machines available on the market. Our range of shot blasting equipment includes: Roller Conveyor Shot Blasting Machines, Hook Type Shot Blasting Machines, Tumble Shot Blasting Machines, Concrete Block Shot Blasting Machines, Wire Mesh Belt Conveyor Shot Blasting Machines, Rotary Table Shot Blasting Machine.

Using Multiple Technologies

Together with having years of experience and having a close relationship with our customers, we know that just one technique doesn't do the job if you want to do surface preparation the right way. Using multiple surface preparation technologies means: A better surface preparation result, Lower expenses on tools, Lower expenses on valuable time, Lower maintenance costs in the future.

Whether you look for a standalone machine or a complete production line, our specialist engineers ensure that your specific technical requirements are always taken into consideration.

With our global service network and innovative spare part concept, our service technicians can provide quick and comprehensive service support all over the world. The family of JX Blast is committed to a best-in-class offering and highest level of customer support across its geographic footprint.

Cooperated with us, you are in good hands: from the planning stage to the startup and beyond – throughout the entire life of your equipment!
