roller conveyors are the proper choice when you need to sideload, push off, accumulate a product, or adjust the pressure on carrying rollers. Roller conveyor types are chain driven, belt driven, line shaft is driven, accumulation, or non-powered (gravity). Using roller conveyors instead of slider bed conveyors adds versatility to the type of transfers, diverts, and stops that can be used in a system. Rollers are available in mild steel, galvanized, plastic or stainless steel.
