This broad-spectrum contact fungicide prevents various fungal diseases in many crops, including leaf and fruit vegetables, bean crops, rice, tropical and citrus fruit, ornamental crops and others.

By inhibiting spore germination of pathogens, this fungicide provides a residual protective film over the surface of the plant. This fungicide is well-matched with other fungicides, insecticides, micronutrients, growth regulators, and spray adjuvants. You can apply it up to 6 times per season, in intervals of 7 – 14 days. When the weather conditions are favourable for the disease development, you may apply it for a shorter interval.
