Teak is one of the strongest and most durable hardwoods, especially when exposed to weather conditions. This makes teak extremely versatile and high resistance to rotting, termite devastation and acid damage. Its natural oils repels unwanted insects and moisture from damaging the integrity of the timber.

Teak is a naturally beautiful timber with its tight, typically straight, grain and varying textures. The golden brown colour tones appeals to many. Its ability to naturally age well and the patina is a testament to its high quality and durability only adding to the aesthetics.
